The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young nation. It is only about 150 years old, and its history is therefore a history of rapid growth and development. The second fact is that the United States is a large nation. It covers a vast area of land, and its population is one of the largest in the world. The third fact is that the United States is a diverse nation. It is made up of many different peoples, languages, and customs. The fourth fact is that the United States is a free nation. It is a land of liberty, where every man is free to follow his own path and to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

The fifth fact is that the United States is a powerful nation. It has a strong military, a powerful economy, and a great influence in the world. The sixth fact is that the United States is a peaceful nation. It has never been at war with itself, and it has always been a champion of peace. The seventh fact is that the United States is a progressive nation. It is always moving forward, always seeking to improve itself and to better the lives of its people. The eighth fact is that the United States is a nation of hope. It is a land of opportunity, where every man can make his own future and where the future is always bright.

The ninth fact is that the United States is a nation of faith. It is a land of religion, where every man has the right to worship God in his own way. The tenth fact is that the United States is a nation of love. It is a land of kindness, where every man is treated with respect and where love is the foundation of all that we do. The eleventh fact is that the United States is a nation of justice. It is a land of law, where every man is equal before the law and where justice is always done. The twelfth fact is that the United States is a nation of freedom. It is a land of liberty, where every man is free to follow his own path and to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

THEORY OF THE EARTH'S CRUST

The first part of the theory of the earth's crust is the study of the rocks which form the crust. The rocks are divided into three main classes: igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic. The igneous rocks are formed from the cooling and solidification of magma. The sedimentary rocks are formed from the accumulation and compaction of sediments. The metamorphic rocks are formed from the transformation of existing rocks under heat and pressure.

The second part of the theory of the earth's crust is the study of the forces which shape the crust. These forces are divided into two main classes: internal and external. The internal forces are the forces which originate within the earth, such as the forces of contraction and expansion. The external forces are the forces which originate outside the earth, such as the forces of erosion and deposition.

The third part of the theory of the earth's crust is the study of the history of the crust. This history is divided into two main periods: the primary period and the secondary period. The primary period is the period of the formation of the crust, and the secondary period is the period of the development of the crust.

The first part of the history of the United States is the history of the colonies. The colonies were founded by Englishmen who had come to America in search of a better life. They were at first dependent on England for everything they needed, but as they grew in number and power, they began to assert their independence. They fought the Revolutionary War and won, and in 1776 they declared their independence from England. The second part of the history of the United States is the history of the Union. The Union was formed in 1787, and since that time it has been a source of strength and unity to the people of America. The third part of the history of the United States is the history of the present. The present is a time of great progress and achievement, and it is a time when the people of America are more united than ever before.

CHAPTER I THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA
The first discovery of America was made by Christopher Columbus in 1492. He sailed from Spain in search of a westward route to the Indies. On October 12, 1492, he landed on the island of San Salvador in the West Indies. This event marked the beginning of European exploration and colonization of the Americas.

CHAPTER II
THE EARLY YEARS OF THE COLONIES
In the early years of the colonies, the settlers faced many hardships. They had to build their own homes, grow their own food, and defend themselves against Native Americans. Despite these challenges, the colonies grew in number and size. By the mid-17th century, there were over 100 colonies in North America.

CHAPTER III
THE STRUGGLE FOR INDEPENDENCE
The struggle for independence began in the 1760s. The British government imposed a series of taxes on the colonies, which the colonists resented. They argued that they had no right to be taxed by a government to which they were not represented. This led to a series of protests and eventually the American Revolution, which culminated in the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776.
